Who We Are

Bringing together decades of retail insight and robust Asia-based manufacturing & sourcing.

In 1938, James Maloney founded Williamsburg Pottery with just a half-acre of land and a passion for craftsmanship. His roadside pottery stand grew into a 200-acre shopping destination, famous for its factory-direct prices and incredible variety. Jimmy’s pioneering spirit shaped modern discount retail long before outlet malls existed. In 1985, Peter Kao founded Oriental World Supplies as global sourcing began to take off, building strong partnerships with major retailers like Dollar General, Ollie’s, and Variety Wholesalers, helping them scale through reliable sourcing and flexible production. We have factories across Dongguan, Guangdong, northern China, and Vietnam. Our longstanding relationships and vertically integrated supply chain allow us to deliver high-volume, high-quality products at the lowest prices. Together, we offer a seamless pipeline from factory floor to retail shelf—founded on experience, built on partnership.

Peter Kao CEO

Peter Kao is an entrepreneur known for his expertise in international marketing, high-level negotiations, and global supply chain strategy. His background in strategic planning, cross-cultural communication, and operations led him to launch Oriental World Supplies in 1985, expanding into retail, manufacturing, and global distribution. Kao was an international buyer for the Williamsburg Pottery in 1980s before his business acumen and leadership earned him the role of Executive Vice President in 1992. Under his leadership, the Williamsburg Pottery and OWS merged to form OWS-WPF Group and maintains strong overseas relationships.
